

Closer In

On a Friday afternoon
Looking at rooftops
Staring out the windows
Till the sun drops

See the wind a-blowing
Thinking unsubstantial thoughts
As I grow old

Waiting on a change of pace to show up
No one seems to bring the things we know up
You can say hello
Say goodbye before you go
And it's all over
All over

All over again
Is it fare the well, my friend?
First I saw you from a distance
Then I moved on closer in
Closer in
Closer in

Something tells me everything is different
Ever since the weather turned I feel it
People looking round
Never listening to the sounds
Of their own stories

On an early Monday morning I'm back at it
Taking care of business that I hadn't
You can give a call
Take a break till eveing falls
And its all over
All over

All over again
Is it fare the well, my friend?
First I saw you from a distance
Then I moved on closer in
Closer in
Closer in

All over again
Is it fare the well, my friend?

First I saw you from a distance
Then I moved on closer in
Closer in
Closer in

Keep Your Head in the Game

At the end of the day
As the sun declines
There's a young man
Walking down the riverside
To reach you
To reach you

With his bags packed heavy
And his heart packed light
With his step so steady
And his smiling eyes
He'll meet you
He'll meet you

And she's waiting at the door
But the one she's waiting for's
Not coming home for dinner after five
Every minute is so cruel
When you haven't heard the news
That Dad withheld
For after dinner time

Keep your head in the game
Through the ache and the pain
And you'll come out alright

So many feeling the same
We'll rebuild and regain
And we'll weather the night

There's chances to score
Turn less into more
Waiting for you to find
Keep your head in the game
Through the ache and the pain
And you'll come out just fine

At the end of the day
As the sun declines
There's a young girl
Walking down the riverside

To reach you

To reach you

With her bags packed heavy

And her heart packed light

With her step so steady

And her smiling eyes

She'll meet you

She'll meet you

And he's waiting at the door

But the one he's waiting for's

Not coming home for dinner after five

Every minute is so cruel

When you haven't heard the news

That Dad withheld

For after dinner time

Keep your head in the game

Through the ache and the pain

And you'll come out alright

So many feeling the same

We'll rebuild and regain

And we'll weather the night

There's chances to score

Turn less into more

Waiting for you to find

Keep your head in the game

Through the ache and the pain

And you'll come out just fine

Keep your head in the game

I Know

On an icy February day
In my home town
Streets are full as people pack inside
And pack back out
Every man and every woman
Got their cares to tend
They'll keep hustlin' and bustlin'
Till the long day's end

And I know
I know, you know, we know, they know
And I know
I know, I go, you go, we go

Glve me love and give me sugar
When I come back home
When we kick the winter weather
And we're on our own
In the evenin' after dinner girl
The stage is ours
We'll keep livin' life worth livin'
From the very start

And I know
I know, you know, we know, they know
And I know

And I know
I know, you know, we know, they know

And I know
I know, you know, we know, they know
And I know

Strum One More Love Song

Just a stone's throw
From your front door
Just a step around the corner
From your local corner store
There's an old bar
With a faded sign
Sayin' happy hour's six to eight
And Thursday's open mic

Come, sing a song or two
Rock and roll or Delta blues
Take us on a journey far away
Somber words and happy tunes
Steady beats we're tappin' to
Take us to a calmer, kinder place

So now strum one more love song
Set all our troubled minds at ease
Sing loud and sing on
Let all your hopes and stories ring

Come sing a song or two

So now strum one more love song
Sing loud and sing on

Just a stone's throw
There's an old bar
With a faded sign

Love Me for a Minute

On a dark winter's day
I know where we're going
I know where the words are flowing
That you say

Under streetlamps bright and shrill
I can see the light diminish
In your eyes now as you finish
What's to tell

Love me for a minute
Love me for a day
Even for a moment
Beggin' you to stay

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

Every word you tell me
Every word you say
Takes me to the limit
And baby, by the way

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

On a warm summer's eve
I remember times before us
When our verses matched the choruses
We'd sing

Autumn fell like a stone
On a city so familiar
On the very walls and pillars
We called home

Love me for a minute
Love me for a day
Even for a moment
Beggin' you to stay

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

Every word you tell me
Every word you say
And baby, by the way

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

Love me for a minute
Love me for a day
Even for a moment
Beggin' you to stay

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

Every word you tell me
Every word you say

Every single ounce of you I'm missing
Every morning

Sunday Lovers

Every Sunday lover's got a favorite color
Every Monday, they're feelin' blue
In the early morning with the cat still snoring
I'm just lyin' there dreamin' of you

There comes a time
Repeat and rewind
Watching the same old show
By your side
After the day
Come home and push play
We'll make a Monday our new Sunday night!
Sunday night
Sunday night

Couchin' in the evenin'
Couchin' in the day
Couchin' our live-long worries away
With you in the morning
And when it's time to play
With you there's one sweet spot I will stay
I will stay
I will stay

Every Sunday lover's got a favorite color

In the early morning with the cat still snoring
I'm just lyin' there dreamin' of you

Couchin' in the day
With you in the morning
And when it's time to play
With you there's one sweet spot I will stay
I will stay
I will stay

Night's getting old
Eyes gettin' square
We'll still be here
We don't care
Anymore

Couchin' in the evenin'
Couchin' in the day
With you in the morning
And when it's time to play
With you there's one sweet spot I will stay
I will stay

Good Day Good Night

Good day, good night
From the sunshine strong
To the pale moonlight
We've been walkin' through
This part of town
Since the sky went bright
And till the sun went down

Though the rain may fall
On us now
We'll keep moving on
To the sound

That we know
That we love
That we are
Though we stumble
There is no road ahead
We won't go

Be it morn
Be it eve
Every road
We will follow
Every step
One step closer to home

Good day, good night
This part of town
Since the sky went bright
And till the sun went down

Though the rain may fall
On us now
We'll keep moving on
To the sound

That we know
That we love

That we are
Though we stumble
We won't go
